

a Little of This and That in --
OUR TOWN

Your Town--

Dawn Patrol activities scheduled for April 25 at the Grayling airport will have much more than the usual significance for air-minded Clayton and Herbert McDonnell.

The McDonnell brothers are among the visionaries, young men of the community who, as a group, are not content to sit back so long as a single opportunity for civic progress remains.

Clayton and "Bud," as airport devotees know them, have come up with as fine a community airport as can be found anywhere in the state. Their achievement is the product of that happy combination of hard work and faith--faith not only in the ultimate success of their efforts to give Grayling a first-class airport, but likewise in the citizens of the community whose active and moral support is as essential as the patronage itself.

It may come as more or less of a shock, depending on the extent of your civic pride, to learn that the Grayling airport is currently operating on borrowed time and may quite suddenly cease to exist for purposes beneficial to the community.

The extent of the loss to the community, should this occur, can be measured best by the extensive features now being offered to airport patrons. These include:

6,000 feet concrete runways with no obstructions.
640 acres systematically graded.
Tie-downs.
Gas service (80 octane) for all planes.
50 cents taxi fare to town.
Sea-Bee shuttle service to lake cottages.

Three minutes from the best lake and river fishing in the area.

The Grayling airport with all facilities has now, by U. S. Army authority, been turned over to the National Guard. Acceptance by the National Guard remains the matter of agreement between the two organizations. The one important point is that the National Guard doesn't care to take over with the existence of the sub-lease to the McDonnell brothers.

Promotion of civilian aviation is dear to the heart of the Civil Aeronautics Board. Since the National Guard would avail itself of facilities of the airport for only 30 days of an entire year, continuance by the National Guard of the lease as it now stands would give the community a civilian airport through practically the whole year.

Now, the Civil Aeronautics Board will readily throw its support to any proposal if such support is justified. And this is where we, as a community, come in. How?

If, under the civilian status, an airport can prove itself self-supporting, every effort should be given for its continuance and development under this status. Therefore, it should become clearly evident that "McNamara Airport," to become self-supporting, must have the fervent backing of individual citizens and combined citizen groups, without exception.

Arrival of the Dawn Patrol and dedication ceremonies on April 25 are meant to be the biggest single factor in popularizing the Grayling airport. This event, with enthusiastic citizen attendance and backing, may be decisive in holding for Grayling a mighty share in future bids for a generous assest of the prolific tourist trade.

Through the Night--
Consider the plight of the forlorn motorist, who because of some tragic error in calculation, sputters into Grayling in the dead of night, only to find a few drops of a fast-failing gasoline supply.

It happens a lot. But, then, who are we to say that it is an error in calculation. After all, the casual night-ride, has every right to expect there will be gas available "up in the next town." More so if the next town is "on-the-map."

To get to the point, motorists running low on gas need no longer be frightened at the long array of darkened pumps lining US-27 through Grayling, once the dead of the night sets in.

Provisions now have been made, and thoughtfully, for the motorist to secure in town the needed supply of gas to continue travel, north or south.

Stranded motorists hereafter need only to find the nearest chief of police George Bielecki, who now carries a perfectly good key to a perfectly good gas pump in town.

The chief is always available, either on the prow up to 3 A. M., or thereafter at the city hall.

Try and Get It--
For a few brief days we had planned telling a waiting world of all the housing that could be made available right in our own back yard--Grayling, that is.

Unfortunately, we reckoned without Uncle Sam when looking over the spacious, empty buildings clustered about the approach to the Grayling airport, just off US-27.

A preview of how to go about getting this housing came with efforts of the airport authorities to secure the use of one of the buildings, the mess hall, for the serving of breakfast when the Dawn Patrol arrives on dedication day.

Airport officials contacted National Guard authorities for permission to use the building. The National Guard advised they had no such authority, despite the fact it was now "their" airport.

A request that the National Guard pursue the authority led to that organization wiring Washington for permission. Following the usual fanfare, and briefing, authorization finally came.

We shudder to think of the involvements in getting the other two meals, plus a bed for the night.

Work To Start On New Keg O'Nails Building In 10 Days

To Be Complete
Recreation Center

Harold "Spike" MacNeven announced today that work would start on the new Keg O'Nails building in ten days to two weeks. The federal building permit which was holding up the starting of the new building was no longer needed when Congress passed the new Rent Control Act and President Truman affixed his signature to it. The prior rent control act made a federal building permit mandatory for so-called unnecessary buildings. Congress erased this part of the act among many others.

The new building will include besides a revival of the old Keg O'Nails, a complete recreation center. The main attraction will be eight brand new bowling alleys with locker, pin boy and rest rooms as well as the popular table shuffle board and ping pong tables.

The new Keg O'Nails will include a smaller cocktail lounge as well as the larger beer garden complete with a dance floor. The two buildings will be tied together by a common entrance and lobby with separate entrances to the recreation building and to the cocktail lounge and beer garden.

Present plans call for a huge glass wall between the two rooms which will make it possible to view the bowlers in action while in the beer garden.

The new building will be approximately 100 by 120 feet with the frontage on US-27 being the 100 feet. It will be constructed of glass and cement block and will feature a large semi-circular canopy over the main front entrance.

The new center will be a definite addition to the many tourist attractions of Grayling and the surrounding area, furnishing recreation and relaxation in a modern setting which will match any large city recreation center.

14 Cities Form North Central Archery Group Here Sunday

Set Summer Field Meet Dates

Members of archery clubs from 14 North Central Michigan cities gathered in Grayling last Sunday and formed the North Central Archery Association of Michigan, elected their officers and set up a tentative field meet schedule for the summer.

The meeting was held at the Bear Archery Company and representatives of Lewistown, Mio, The Heights, Ludington, Cadillac, Beulah, Cheboygan, Boyne City, Midland, Houghton Lake, Mount Pleasant, Frankfort, Clare and Grayling archery clubs were present.

The group named Fred I. Bradford of Beulah as the association's president and Jack Hale of Boyne City as vice president, with Dick Wischni of Ludington as the secretary and treasurer. About 60 bowmen-in-all attended the meeting and enjoyed refreshments and a tour through the new Grayling archery plant. Most of them stayed and dined at a field shoot on the company's field range, which has been constructed in the wooded area surrounding the plant.

The first field meet of the new association will be held in Ludington on April 18 with the next scheduled at Beulah on May 9, Grayling May 23, Mount Pleasant June 13, Ludington June 27, Beulah July 11. The association will leave the rest of the month of July open for the National Field Archery Association meet will be held in Manitowoc, Wisconsin, on July 23, 24, 25 and 26, at which 750 of the nation's leading bowmen will compete.

On August 8, the new group will resume their meets at Grayling with another at Cadillac on August 22 with a championship tournament of the association scheduled for September 12. The city at which the archery field shoot will be held has as yet not been selected. On September 26, a broadhead tournament will take place at Frankfort.

A board of governors of the association is still to be formed. It will be made up of a representative from each archery club in the association. The group not only hopes to encourage better archery marksmanship through its tournaments, but will foster legislation

R. B. McDonald Dies in Detroit

Funeral services for Roy B. McDonald, 44, native Bay City man, who has lived in Detroit for the past 25 years, were held at the McCabe Funeral Home, Detroit, Wednesday.

Masonic rites were conducted later in Jackson.

Mr. McDonald died Sunday at his Detroit home, 1454 Rutland road. Before moving to Detroit, he had lived in Jackson and Montana.

Born in Bay City, April 3, 1899, he leaves the widow, Florence, a sister, Mrs. D. G. Vernier, of Bay City, and a brother, Fred of Miami, Fla.

Mr. McDonald is remembered by his Grayling friends as Mac, who spent his summers at his home at Mac's Island on the AuSable River.

Speaks Tonight

Anauta, the only Eskimo woman on the American platform, will speak tonight at 8 o'clock (Thursday) at the Grayling High School Auditorium under the sponsorship of the Grayling Parent-Teacher Association. Tickets are now available at Mac's Drug Store or from any member of the P.T.A. They will also be on sale at the door and no reserve seats will be sold.

"Anauta" is not a pen-name, but her real name, given to her at birth by her parents. If you can picture a lady who was born and raised where much of the time the temperature is 70 degrees below zero—who was raised as a boy; driving dog-sleds, shooting seal, polar bear, fox, and deer—and who was a grown woman with two children of her own, before she had ever tasted any kind of fruit or vegetable—then, you have some conception of the speaker.

Anauta comes from a land (Baffin Island) where there is: No Dishonesty—No Stealing—No "Rackets"—No contagious diseases—No decayed teeth—No bald-headed men—and where a man does not need to shave, because he has no beard.

CAID-HARWOOD NUPTIALS

In an impressive ceremony read Tuesday, March 30 at 4 o'clock, by Rev. Francis Branigan, Miss Margie Jean Caid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Caid of Lovells, repeated her marriage vows with Patrick Harwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Harwood of this city. A single ring ceremony was used.

The bride was attired in a white suit dress with balconette collar. Her flowers were yellow roses.

As attendants, Miss Jackie Harwood, sister of the groom, wore a grey dress and a corsage of pink carnations, while Miss Rose Bielecki, a friend of the bride, wore a similar flower.

Robert Tiffin and Edgar J. Caid, Jr. brothers of the groom and bride respectively attended the groom.

Following the ceremony one hundred fifty guests attended a reception given by the bride's parents at the Douglas Hotel in Lovells. A buffet luncheon was served by candlelight. The bride's table was decorated with a large three-tiered wedding cake on either side of which were crystal candle sticks bearing white tapers. The cake was artistically decorated with roses and topped with a miniature bride and groom under a wedding veil.

The bride's great aunt, Mrs. Martha Douglas, served punch from a large hand-painted punch bowl centered on a table covered with a white linen cloth. The bride's mother, Mrs. Willard Harwood, served a delicious dinner of great-grandmother, Mrs. W. E. Husted.

The gift table was decorated with Easter lilies and roses, with evergreen, cut flowers of Michigan orchids and daffodils and plants of Easter lilies, hyacinths and tulips making the dining and living rooms lovely for the occasion.

Among the guests were four great aunts, Mrs. Martha Douglas, Mrs. Cora Davis of Standish, Mrs. Anna Clark and Miss Margaret Husted of West Branch, Ontario, present from afar were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Moore and Mr. and Mrs. John Kurchenko of Hazelpark, Sgt. Emery Craft, who is stationed at Boston, Mass., and his fiancée, Miss Doris Walbridge of Trenton, Ruth Deanne Halberg of Detroit and Bill Koernke of Ann Arbor.

Both young people are well known here and were graduated from Grayling High School in 1946. The bride is a beautician in the grocery employed by the Cooper Construction Company. The couple are at home to their many friends at the Welsh apartment following a honeymoon in Northern Michigan.

Gov. Kim Sigler To Dedicate Airport

Program Takes Shape With Community Backing

The program for April 25 for the arriving Dawn Patrol and dedication of the Grayling McNamara Airport began to take definite shape at last Friday's meeting with the assurance from Michigan's Governor Kim Sigler that he would be on hand for the event.

The Dawn Patrol activities were whipped into shape by chairman Clayton McDonnell while dedication chairman C. L. Babcock also presented a full committee to handle the activities of that side of the program. Robert Strong was selected to co-ordinate the program.

The dedication committee selected workers to handle loud speakers, resolutions, platform, photography, special invitations, archery exhibitions and plan for canoes for possible fishing trips. The Dawn Patrol committee made ready for parking planes and cars, errands, reception, transportation, breakfast at the Winter Sports Park, coffee at the airport, prizes and advertising.

Another meeting will be held at the Council Rooms at the City Hall at 7:30 Friday evening and every Friday until and including April 23. All committee workers are definitely expected to attend and all interested persons are cordially invited.

Publicity for the affair has begun to skyrocket after Mort Neff of the Neff Radio Productions of Detroit was contacted. He will plug the day's program over his sportsman's Guide radio program for the next few weeks which reaches 31 Michigan radio stations. He will also be here on April 25.

Invite Public On Deeryard Trips

During the winter many persons expressed a desire to attend spring inspection trips through some of the deeryards which are in poor condition due to over-browsing by deer. Such a trip was scheduled for April 4 and another will take place on April 11, Harry D. Ruhl, game division chief said.

The past yarding season was not as long as that of the previous year, nor conditions as severe, since there was not as much snow in most of the trouble areas, the game chief said. However, starvation losses have been considerable in parts of Kalkaska and Crawford Counties and, no doubt, other bad spots will be found as the search for deer deer progresses. This is the time of year when the losses usually begin to show up, he added.

No transportation or other facilities are provided by the department except that our men will be present to direct the tours and to explain the various problems involved in managing the deer range, Ruhl explained.

Groups will assemble at 10:30 A. M., Eastern Standard Time, at the following places on Sunday, April 11, as they did last Sunday: Conservation Headquarters, Mio.

For Kellum, District Game Manager, in charge. Conservation Equipment Station, Kalkaska, Warren Shapton, District Game Manager, in charge. Winter Sports Park, Grayling, Otto Felling, District Game Manager, in charge.

Persons attending these trips should wear field clothes, including water resistant footwear, it was pointed out.

Miss Gloria Moore was hostess to eight young people on Saturday evening to celebrate her 18th birthday.

OPEN HOUSE! EVERYONE INVITED!

In School at Feldhauser

The remaining six weeks of school will undoubtedly pass too quickly. However, with spring having been turned on and off periodically, there are signs of restlessness, and everyone will welcome a change.

Our Easter activities consisted in a brief party on the morning of Good Friday. Mary Jane Wakeley and Carol Mikesell hid Easter baskets in the school yard for the hunt, and everyone had an egg to dye (and eat). The remainder of the time was spent in story telling and games.

Billy Holzman had his birthday this week. It seems Billy sends a good deal of his spare time playing tricks on his school mates, and so it's easy to guess how poor Billy fared.

When Lawrence Stephan had his birthday he came up with the news two days late.

And continuing on the subject of birthdays, we can't help remembering Frank Ludeman way back in December, explaining to his would-be pummelers that he wasn't born until 5 o'clock. Not a hand was raised against Frankie.

With the mending of quite a number of our library books the number of those books has increased considerably.

We are planning a spring production, the details of which will be announced at a later date.

It's NO. 1 on the "It" Parade

It's much the same way with cars as with people.

Some "have it" — some don't.

Some you go for, all out — without quite being able to lay a finger on why. And those — well, they usually become your firmest friends.

What is it that makes so many good folks say this trim honey's "got it"? Good looks? One has to admit it's nice to ride in a car that is unmistakably itself and not just a slightly modified version of something else.

Size, weight? Well, the polls tell us it's a pretty important factor since, if you like an automobile that does things, there just is no substitute for brawn and solid substance.

Power? Naturally. You can't sit long behind this big Fireball straight-eight without falling for it plenty hard.

Handling? Ride? Room? They all have their avid fans among Buick owners. Especially now with a completely new kind of engine mounting ironing out vibration build-up as never before, and in this Convertible model, with automatic top, door-window and front-seat adjustment.

Is it the wonderful new Dynaflo Drive* that's causing so much talk?

In ROADMASTER models that is certainly a big factor. You'll never know how silky smooth a drive can be — what fluent new ease there is to all your going — till you drive the car where liquid replaces both the clutch and first, second and high gears.

But as nearly as we can find out — and we talk to a lot of people — it isn't any one thing that puts Buick at the top of the

Free Enterprise in Hawaii

There is no lack of evidence that the free enterprise system has achieved a higher standard of living for the masses of the people than has any other system. And that evidence isn't found within the continental limits of the United States alone. A fine example of it exists 2,000 miles out in the Pacific—in the Hawaiian Islands.

Hawaii, with a population of 525,000, produces 90 per cent of our pineapple products and one-seventh of our sugar. It is primarily an agricultural region. And it pays the highest farm wages in the world—over $8.00 a day. It maintains a standard of living unparalleled on plantations anywhere else.

This wasn't the result of a happy accident of abundant natural resources. The Islands are of volcanic origin, are not very fertile, and present special and difficult development problems. Nor was it the result of an influx of foreign capital—until relatively recently the Islands were not attractive to mainland investors. It was, instead, the result of local free enterprise. Most Hawaiian businesses have been developed by saving and hard work, and by plowing profits back in. The great bulk of them are locally owned.

We've heard a great deal of talk about domination of the Hawaiian economy by a few concerns. Yet there are 1,000 different corporations in the Islands, owned by 35,000 stockholders, and new enterprises are warmly welcomed. Admittedly, many social and economic issues have yet to be solved. But free enterprise in the Islands is doing what it has done on the United States mainland—raising the living standards of the people to the highest known level.

WHAT PRICE OIL?

Price tags are mighty poor indications of quality where engine oil is concerned. Experts know that oil, to be "good," must dissipate heat and prevent wear under widely different driving conditions... and no single engine oil yet discovered will cover the entire range. That's why we offer two entirely different oils. R.O.C. oil for normal driving and NORTHLAND oil for high sustained speeds.

Both of these oils are made from select crude and are designed to do one job better—eliminate costly wear and power loss. There is a slight difference in cost. But this comes from the difference in production cost.

Buy your oil according to your needs. This is true economy.

Babies Know Their Own Appetites Food Needs Best, Says Child Experts

Who knows better when he's hungry—the baby or the clock? Modern child experts believe that most babies will find their own eating pattern if allowed to regulate themselves, says Marguerite Clark. Discussing the problems of child feeding in McCall's for March, she has this to say:

"After 20 years of strict coercive feeding and a few short desperate years of letting the baby eat when and as he wills, the pediatric pendulum has swung to the center and stopped at the point of natural, common-sense feeding. The relatively new attitude of 'self-demand'—or respecting the child's own eating pattern, is still in a test stage, but from research reports so far made, the idea itself appears to be entirely sound."

"For strong, normal babies, reliance on the child's natural rhythm of feeding, and no restriction on the amount he is allowed to take from bottle or breast, is now considered by the majority of child health authorities to be the most scientific feeding method. However, the use of the term 'self-demand' is unfortunate. It brings to mind a sort of desperate behavior on the part of the baby which makes parents reluctant to accept the new technique. So this kind of practical infant feeding is now called the 'self-regulating' method by Dr. C. Anderson Aldrich, author of Babies Are Human Beings, and director of the Rochester Child Health Project at Rochester, Minnesota, where the technique has been tried out for several years."

"In The Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Aldrich has published a report on over 600 self-regulating babies, supervised in a well-baby clinic at Rochester from the time of their dismissal from the hospital to go to their homes until their first birthday. Statistics revealed that feeding intervals varied with the child—two hours, three, four and five hours, four meals a day and three meals a day. However, in the first two months of life, a large majority of babies selected an interval of less than four hours for feeding."

Dr. Aldrich and other modern child specialists agree that it is natural and preferable to feed an infant at its mother's breast. But if this is not possible, artificial feeding with cow's milk is a perfectly adequate alternative. In fact, the only serious objection to properly prepared and administered artificial feeding seems to be that bottle-fed babies are more susceptible to respiratory infections during the second six months of life than are breast-fed babies."

Dr. Stuart Shelton Stevenson, child health professor at Harvard University, thinks that vitamin A and vitamin C (ascorbic acid) may be the substances that are stored by the breast-fed baby. "But when the bottle-fed baby receives proper amounts of these vitamins daily, in several divided doses, he thrives well," Dr. Stevenson said, "and there is hope that this may lessen his chance of getting a respiratory infection."

"All doctors now agree that the bottle-fed baby should not be given his meals while lying on a table or bed, or by means of a bottle propped. Instead, the mother should cuddle him in her arms while he is taking his food and thus give him some physical semblance of breast feeding."

Get Set For Trout Planting

Men of the Conservation Department's fish hatchery staffs are keeping an anxious eye on backwoods roads for if they are fit for truck travel early the start of the season's tremendous trout planting program will go smoothly.

This year, as in the previous two, the department's goal (never yet reached) is to plant one million legal size trout, seven inches long or larger, besides many smaller trout and other fish.

In the ordinary season the fish-planting men can count on about 75 days suitable for trout planting; from shortly before the season opens in April to mid-August. On these 75 days the crews must average more than 13,000 legal size trout per day, in addition to other fish planting and routine hatchery work.

Even distribution of the big trout over thousands of miles of streams requires truck travel over remote trails seldom used by any vehicles other than light passenger cars. The planting operation itself takes considerable time, as the trout must be spread along the stream in likely places where they can find food until the anglers find them. The longer it takes for back roads to become passable, the greater the load on planting crews in midsummer.

Except for the lower part of Black River in Mackinac County, where rainbow trout fishing starts April 15, the state's trout streams and trout lakes are open to anglers April 24. Anglers may identify the 1948 plans of legal trout by their lack of the adipose fin, and recognize the survivors from 1947 plantings by their lack of the big dorsal.

Much merriment was had as the ladies watched each other trying to eat. In the bridge game that followed Mrs. Ernest Borchers held high score and Miss Odie Sheehy low, however as a joke Mrs. Borchers was given the low score prize and Miss Sheehy the high.

of the death of Mr. Roy McDonald at his home in Detroit. Mr. McDonald owned the beautiful spot on the Main Street and North Branch River, known as Mac's Island. It truly is a spot most beautiful. Mr. MacDonald has been in very poor health for some time. Our sympathy is extended to the relatives.

The Ladies Club will meet at this club rooms, April 14th for their next meeting. Potluck lunch will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. Swartz of Detroit spent the week end at their cabin.

Crawford County Library

A regular meeting of the Library Board was held in March with all members except one present. Fire insurance for the library was discussed as well as the need for a new card file. The Board gave the librarian authority to purchase a new file whenever she sees fit.

The latest book club selections received by the library are: "Lucinda Bradford," by Martin Boyd, a family novel covering four generations, but concentrating on Lucinda who made the "good" marriage; "Unconquered," by Neil H. Swanson, a frontier story of Indian fighting based on actual incidents and many historical figures; "Reluctant Rebel," by Frederic Van de Water, another historical novel, and "The Great Blizzard," by Albert Edward Irell, a hilarious story of the Rogers family who took everything in its stride from an undesirable son-in-law to the great blizzard of 1888.
